

Decra LOO-ART cubicle system

Digital image used on the door face only

Loo's Balls at the David Beckham Football Academy November 2005

Architect RTKL loved the proposal by Decra at the initial stages of this project to use a digitally printed motif of footballs as a design for the cubicle doors for the centre— funded mostly by Mr Beckham himself. The image is encapsulated as high pressure laminate and then bonded onto a particleboard core and edged in laminate. Simple 2 tone scheme complemented the nature of the project and Decra also provided solid grade laminate shower cubicles— again in the black and white theme. LOO-ART opens the door of creative possibilities for bespoke washrooms as we can discuss using your own image or find you a stock image from a variety of royalty free image databases.
